

I strongly disagree with the CBA and its attempt to impose the federal "established business relationship" exemption on Indiana consumers.

This would open up a "pandora's box" resulting in the annoying and disruptive telephone solicitations resuming after not receiving any calls since the inception of the Indiana Privacy Law.

Please do not succumb to the wishes of a few banking concerns, listen to the people of Indiana who have signed up for this protection and do not wish to have the law weakened.

Many thanks for your favorable consideration.
